

So long as we are ruled by fear and distrust, it is impossible to solve the problems of the world.

The more trust grows and the more fear diminishes, the more the problem will shrink.

*Kees Boeke,
Democracy as it might be, May 1945*

Kees Boeke and wife Betty Cadbury did the first implementation of sociocracy in a school in the Netherlands in 1926.

